

A few lessons ago you practised using this type of punctuation.

What is it's name?

What did you use it for?

I believe..... because....

THAT'S RIGHT! We used it for POSESSION.

What else can we use apostrophes for?

I thinkbecause...

I believe..... because....

WALT use apostrophes for omission

Remember to:

- 1. Know the definition
- 2. Match the contraction to the root words.
- 3. Write your own examples of apostrophe for omission in sentences.
- 4. Write a sentence that uses both apostrophe for omission AND possession.

What does the word 'omission' mean?

(5 mins)

Omission is when something is left out.

We can therefore use apostrophes to show that you have omitted (left out) some letters when you are joining 2 root words together (for example: I will ---- I'll)

Sometimes though you need to rearrange the letters a bit when you join the words (for example: will not --- won't)

Take a look at the video below to see some examples!

Apostrophes for omission (To show missing letters)

Can you think of any more examples of when you might use an apostrophe for omission?

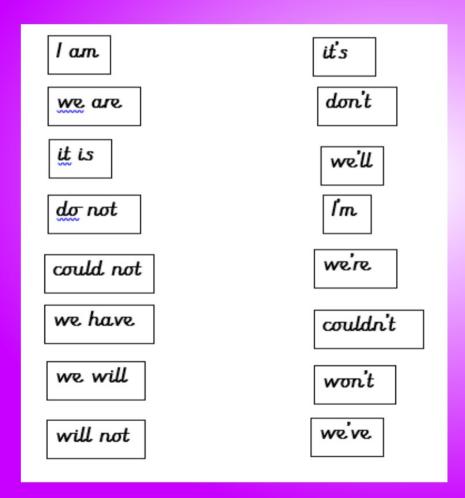

What are the two root words of each example?

Discuss your ideas with a family member or partner!

Consider & Practise

Match the two root words to the contraction (the shortened word).

Write 3 sentences about the chocolate room with an apostrophe for omission in each.

Let's do one together first.

We have now practised using apostrophes for both possession and omission.

Can you write one sentence that includes both?

Label your sentence showing which one is which!
